Draw me like a french girl pose

I'm ready to lift my pin! This kangaroo looks ready to sit down for a racy snap - just like Kate Winslet in Titanic. The kangaroo, lying in a Titanic pose, was spotted at Cleland Wildlife Park, Adelaide, Australia, and if he had wanted to speak, he would have been drawn as a French woman. The portrait was taken by a stunned Przemyslaw Iwaniec, 27, from Calgary, Canada, who wondered if the double-breasted card was on display. But at a height of less than 18cm, the grey kangaroo of West Grey was in a much less intimidating position and Przemyslaw was able to snap as the intact hat spread. Kate Winslet scene from Titanic But while Rose sat for much longer for Jack's portrait, the kangaroo soon had to jump in and let go of the scene. Premislav said: 'I honestly couldn't believe what I was seeing, it looked like the pose you usually associate with lingerie models lying provocatively on a sofa or bed. That reminded me of the titanic scene, paint me as one of your French girls, Jack, where Rose lies on the couch for a sketch. The kangaroo lying in a Titanic pose This kangaroo was the man and he knew it. He was either lying or sleeping, but a lot of people who didn't believe — no one thought he'd be in that position naturally. There was even someone who thought it was a stuffed kangaroo from a shop or museum that had been left in the sun. I had to remove my camera quickly before it moved again.
